Frederico Vicente

Computer Science Student

My name is Frederico Vicente and I'm 21 years old. Since the very beginning, I have been curious about my surroundings: I first expressed my interest in physics, then it shifted to culture, literature and cinema. Finally, faced with the new era of technology, I realised that computers gave me the ability to build playgrounds where I could combine and play with all my interests. Since then, I have dedicated my free time to learning and using several different tools. Recently, I have fallen in love with Machine Learning, and researching about this subject has been my main focus. Writing poetry has also become a facet of myself which I am really proud of. To conclude, I will leave one of my favourite quotes by Einstein:

• Logic will get you from A to B; Imagination will take you everywhere. •
